PREETI SINGH (HEAD-MISTRESS MIDDLE SCHOOL)

Q) Why do you believe it is necessary to instill values in children from an early age?

A) At our school, we believe in the philosophy that "a first impression is the last impression". This remains truer than ever when it comes to school children, who are willing to absorb anything taught to them. Here we try to teach them lessons as well as we can, and make them learn the lessons we have learnt in our lifetime. Children are the role models for future generations. It is our duty to ensure that they set the right example through performing their civic duty, striving for personal achievements, and making a conscious effort.

Q) What do you think helps the quiz club of DPS ruby park win more accolades than others?

A) I believe what the quiz club owes its success to the fact that everyone in the club quizzes not just to win awards and have their names printed in newspapers, but simply because they love quizzing.

ISHAAN SENGUPTA

Q) As a student, what does freedom mean for you and how has the "school" helped you realise the idea of "freedom"?

A) Freedom is not just the legal constructs we so often talk of. It also lies in increased mobility and independence. The school has, through quality well-rounded education, ensured that I become a multifaceted individual. This has essentially kindled a spirit of freedom in me because I feel confident and well-equipped enough to perform a huge variety of activities successfully.
